CHOUX PASTRY

Bring the water, milk, salt, sugar and butter to the boil. Add the sifted flour all in one go and dry out over a high heat. Transfer into a bowl and add the eggs one by one. Using a circular piping nozzle, pipe 25 g of choux pastry for the body of the religieuse (4.5 cm diameter) and 8 g for the head of the religieuse (2.5 cm diameter). Bake in a deck oven at 160°C for 40 minutes.

COFFEE CRÈME PATISSIÈRE

Bring the milk to the boil. Beat the egg yolks and sugar until pale. Add the flour, flan powder and coffee extract. Cook by bringing it to the boil (30 sec/L of milk). Transfer into a container and chill quickly.

COFFEE FONDANT ICING

Melt the fondant, glucose and coffee extract to 45°C in the microwave. Melt the chocolate and the cocoa butter at 45°C. Stir in chocolate fondant and temper to 50°C. Pour the 7 cm hemispheres for the body of the religieuse (30 g/body) and the 5 cm hemispheres for the head (15 g/head) into a "Flexipan". Leave in the blast freezer for 15 minutes, then unmould.

COFFEE BUTTERCREAM

Cook the water and sugar at 120°C. Whip the eggs and the yolks. Pour the syrup over the mixture. Whisk at full speed then cool to 30°C. At 30°C, add the butter (cut into pieces and brought to temperature). Heat slightly if necessary. When the cream is smooth and shiny, incorporate the coffee extract.

CHOUX PASTRY CRUNCH

Put the very cold butter along with the rest of the ingredients in the bowl of the stand mixer with the K-beater attachment. Mix and stop when the mixture is smooth and homogeneous. Roll out to 2 mm thick and then blast freeze. Cut out with a 5 cm biscuit cutter for the body of the religieuse and a 3 cm one for the head.
